Recovery Care Coordinator Support to Caregivers

The Recovery Care Coordinator (RCC) is one of the first non-medical points of contact that a recovering service member (RSM) and family members/caregivers will meet. RCCs conduct a comprehensive needs assessment and coordinate the support network that ensures those needs are addressed for a successful return to full duty or transition to the civilian community. RCCs are available to RSMs and their families/caregivers—whether they are assigned to the Wounded Warrior Regiment (WWR) or remain with their operational units.

What is a Caregiver?

A caregiver is defined as any relative, partner, friend, or neighbor who has a significant personal relationship with, and provides a broad range of assistance for, a person with a chronic or disabling condition. These individuals may be primary or secondary caregivers and live with, or separately from, the person receiving care. Caregivers for RSMs face a range of challenges that impact them on daily basis, including physical health, mental health, finances, education, family issues, transportation, housing and legal issues.

Recovery Coordination Program

RCCs are one element of the WWR’s Recovery Coordination Program. They help RSMs and their families/caregivers define their individual goals for recovery, rehabilitation, and reintegration.

A RCC’s primary responsibilities include:

- Work with RSMs and their families / caregivers to develop a comprehensive recovery plan, which identifies needs and defines the goals for recovery, rehabilitation, and reintegration.
- Locate and educate RSMs and their families/ caregivers on available services and resources.
- Minimize delays and gaps in treatment and services, to include when the RSM is processing through the Disability Evaluation System (DES).
- Provide information on benefits and compensation, legal resources, financial counseling, support, and caregiver resources.
